3.2 Definition of Terms

The following terms and definitions apply to this RFP and any resulting contract.

Secure

The State considers SVRS Software secure if it has been evaluated by the National Computer Security Center (NCSC), has passed the US Department of Defense's Trusted Computer System Evaluation Criteria (TCSEC) frequently referred to as the "Orange Book," and has achieved a minimum security level of C2. SVRS Software submitted to a Common Criteria participating governmental entity for evaluation using the currently available Evaluation Assurance Level (EAL) should have a minimum rating that is comparable and equivalent to the old C2 standard. In the absence of a minimum security level of C2, the State will, in its sole discretion, determine whether the SVRS Software has adequate "Controlled Access Protection" incorporated into its core technology that will satisfy the State's need for security.
